Moon & tea Mid-autumn gift box

Our gift box contains not only the Mid-autumn Festival culture, but also the local Colored Rice and Duotian elements of Xinghua. It is displayed through the elegant oriental aesthetics, giving due consideration to the culture, aesthetics and practicality.

中秋

Colored Rice

Colored Rice is one of Xinghua's local specialty agricultural products, including black rice, purple rice, red rice, green rice and yellow rice.

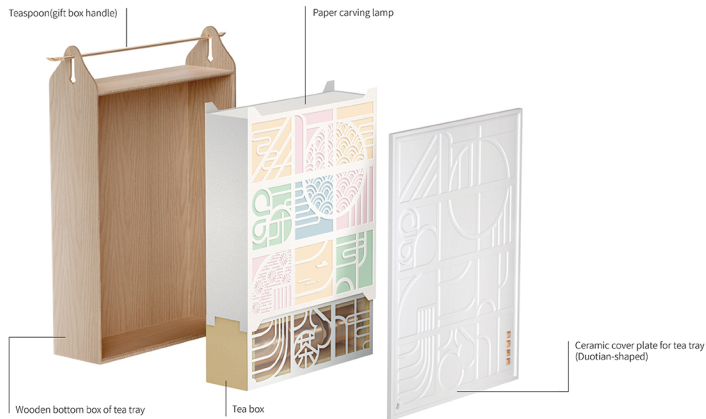

Duotian

Duotian is a unique agricultural cultural heritage in Xinghua. It has a history of about 600 years. Duotian in Xinghua, due to the impact of the water from the upper reaches and the tide from the lower reaches of the sea, formed a small area, different size, different shape, surrounded by water, not connected, like a small island in the sea, high and low water mounds. In order to resist the flood, the ancients piled up the earth into piles and cultivated them, forming Duotian.

Mid-autumn Festival Customs

The Mid-autumn Festival is one of the most important festivals in China. On this day, the family reunite to eat moon cakes, drink tea, enjoy the moon, and give gifts. Our work is an exquisite gift box that combines the oriental beauty with the elements of Xinghua local Colored Rice and Duotian, which is used to give to relatives and friends during the festival.

The whole gift box is elegant and refined, the grain of the top cover perfectly restores the beauty of Duotian in the water when used as a tea tray; The inner colored paper box echoes the Colored Rice, and incorporates landscape elements such as the moon and water waves into it; The side of the wooden outer box is the shape of the eaves of Chinese south village houses.

Colored Rice moon cakes

Tea caddy

• Tea tray

• Eaves modeling of waterside village

• Paper carving lamp

• Teaspoon(gift box handle)

• Metal stamp

When the moon cakes and tea are taken out, the gift box itself becomes an appliance for appreciating the moon and tasting tea: The bamboo box and the ceramic cover plate form a tea tray for drainage when drinking tea; The copper handle can be used as a teaspoon to help remove the tea from the small pot; The colored translucent box inside is used as a lantern for appreciating the moon at night; The spherical structure on the cover can be removed as an incense burner to help us drive away mosquitoes and flies.

The entire gift box is made of recyclable materials. It helps people to provide more use value and reduce the waste of resources after a wonderful moon night.
