RICERCA

The prevention and treatment of muscle degeneration

ARED aerobics running bicycle weights

heavy and complicated

Today's astronauts used to perform resistance exercises to maintain muscle strength and simulate loading conditions on Earth. Unfortunately, these machines are too large to be carried aboard a spacecraft for long space flights where space is limited.

Studies indicate the possibility that in the future astronauts may have wearable equipment that combats muscle atrophy.